Summer Camp for "YOUNG" Flutists
solo & chamber music

staff

» Francesca Canali, flute

Preface

The Master Class for young flutists will offer you a good possibility to intensively prepare an imminent contest such as Jugend musiziert, Prima la Musica, Gradus ad Parnassum or an examination, and you can also deepen and improve programs already started or finished.

Solo lessons, chamber music, choir and solfège will widen your musical horizon and promote your creativity and talent in playing the instrument.

Due to the varied contact with the course participants, listening to other participants and the strings and flute course taking place at the same time will expand your sound experience, promote your creativity and rouse your joy in making music. Specific technical support will facilitate the transformation of your musical ideas.

Program

Daily minimum 40 minutes individual lesson, chamber music, choir & solfège are essential parts of the course program. You can freely choose the program for the course.

A main focus of this young master class lies in techniques and in interpreting your selected program.

We will work on an improvement of your musical power of expression and the promotion of your musical personality and find ways to independent interpretation. Correct exercises, practicing playing by heart, the correct posture at the instrument and correct respiration are also main components of the course work.

We deal with coping any fears of performance, among others, by mental training, by mutual recitals in group lessons, in the workshop concert and during the public final concert, and by preparing for competitions and exams young flute players of every nation from age 7 up to age 18 from Universities, Music schools, Conservatories or from private teachers. Invited are soloists and ensembles.

Invited are

Preface

The Master Classes for strings, piano & flute with international renowned professors addresses to students of music, professional musicians, teachers of instruments, ensembles and soloists, as well as to ambitious amateurs. During this week they prepare themselves intensively for trial performance, a concert, a competition, or an exam; or they simply can elaborate a program of free choice.

The castle Zell an der Pram with its generous seminar-rooms, its stimulating atmosphere and its unique and romantic setting in the Upper Austrian "Innviertel", offers an excellent background for intensive work with internationally renowned professors and guarantee a further artistic and professional development.

Program

Daily individual lessons with the professors and with the piano accompanists, simulations of trial performances, group instruction, and workshop concerts offer realistic situations and help to train professional performances and to obtain some routine.

A main focus lies in specific individual support in technique, in interpreting your selected program and we will work on an improvement of your musical power of expression and the promotion of your musical personality also to prepare you for concerts, contests, auditions and examinations or just to prepare a program for your pleasure.

You can freely choose the program for the course. There are enough pianos and rooms for exercises, the exercise periods will be organized.

Invited are

Soloists & ensembles, professional musicians, musical educators, advanced students from music schools, universities, conservatories and from private teachers and ambitious amateurs from every nation. The class is open for strings and pianists older than age 14.
